LONDON, March 27.

THE Mail due on Sunday last arrived yesterday in the afternoon. The accounts from Vienna, dated the 7th of March, confirm the intelligence brought by the French papers, of an Armistice for thirty days having been concluded between the French and Neapolitan troops; in consequence of which, the latter have evacuated the whole of the Ecclesiastical State, but, it is added, the Neapolitan harbours are not yet shut against the English, as has been reported. The King of Naples has published a Proclamation at Palermo, dated February 10, by which all persons who have been confined on account of offences committed against the State, are to be set at liberty, and further, that they have left their country on the same account are permitted to return.

Letters from Constantinople of the 10th of February state, that the English fleet had sailed for the coast of Egypt, and that the Turkish fleet will sail in about twelve days.—To repair the great loss which the army of the Grand Vizier has suffered from the plague, and by desertion, several transports have failed from Constantinople with troops.

According to the same accounts, Gen. Abercrombie has offered General Menou an honourable capitulation, if he will evacuate Egypt, and return to France with his troops; but this has been peremptorily refused. The English, it is said, wait the co-operation of 6000 men from the East Indies, who will give employment to the French on the Eastern side of Egypt, while Gen. Abercrombie makes his attack on the coast of the Mediterranean.

The improbable report still prevails at Constantinople that 6000 French troops have landed in Africa, near Algiers, and are upon their march for Egypt.

Frequent conferences are held between the Turkish Ministry and the Russian Ambassador; the former seems very sensible of the delicate situation of the affairs of the Porte.

A change is expected in the Turkish Ministry. The late Ambassador at Vienna, it is supposed, will be appointed Reis Effendi, and the Grand Vizier be recalled.

There is nothing of importance from the North. An article from Stockholm, dated the 6th instant, mentions, that the most active preparations are making for war, and the defence of the coast against any attack.

Last night arrived Paris papers to the 24th inst. They confirm the intelligence brought by the Hamburgh Mail, of General Abercromby being still with the Expedition at Macri; the ravages making by the plague in the Grand Vizier's army in Syria; and the report that French troops are marching through Barbary into Egypt. Long accounts are given of the celebration of the ratification of Peace in Paris. The fortresses of Ehrenbreitstein, Kehl, Old Brisach, &c. are demolishing with great activity by the French, who find amongst the ruins considerable effects and treasures, which were concealed during the different sieges.

An article from the Hague relates, that the King of Prussia has very properly interceded himself in behalf of the Prince of Orange, and demands of the Batavian Government that he shall be indemnified for the domains which he possessed in Holland previous to the Revolution.

The Medea fireship is returned to Leith, having sprung a leak off the Scaw. She left the fleet under Admiral Parker, on Sunday the 15th instant, all well, off that place. The Lieutenant of the Medea reports, as his opinion, that the whole of the fleet would be before Copenhagen on Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning.

The Pope has made Gen. Murat a present of a snuff-box, ornamented with his Holiness's picture.

Letters from Stockholm of the 28th of Feb. state, that Russia and Sweden have called on the King of Prussia for the stipulated assistance against the overbearing power of Britain.
