ARTIFICIAL TEETH,

AND PALATES, FIXED WITHOUT PAIN.

Constructed on the newest and most approved principles.

[Late of Broad Street, Brighton.]

MR. FLETCHER, SURGEON DENTIST, presents his grateful thanks to the Nobility, Gentry and others, for the distinguished patronage he has been honoured with for more than twenty years. The experience of so many years successful practice in the above science, and in the various surgical operations peculiar to the mouth, teeth, and gums, enables him, with confidence, to state that he fixes ARTIFICIAL TEETH, with so correct a nicety as not only to ensure their fitting, but also the most desirable of comforts, mastication, as well as ornament and articulation. The wearers will be able to take them out and replace them at all periods without difficulty.

N. B. Mr. Fletcher begs to observe, that the improved mechanical invention, by which he fixes Artificial Teeth, does not require the removal of any tooth which may be fast, so that the patient may be under no apprehension of suffering the least pain. Every operation peculiar to the Mouth, Teeth, and Gums, performed with care and safety. Schools attended.

T. THORBY,

FROM THE HOUSE OF JOHN BELL & CO., OXFORD STREET, LONDON,

CHEMIST AND DRUGGIST,

35, NORTH STREET, BRIGHTON,

BEGS leave to recommend to the particular notice of the Nobility, Gentry, and Residents of Brighton, his highly estimated STOMACH and BILIOUS PILLS.

For Indigestion, Costiveness, Flatulence, Head Ache, Loss of Appetite, &c., which are acknowledged to be one of the most generally useful remedies in all complaints to which the digestive organs are subject: particularly in bilious affections, and in a great variety of nervous disorders which are the effect of a morbid derangement of stomach and the other organs subservient to the process of digestion. They are composed entirely of vegetable substances, and do not contain a single particle of calomel, or any other preparation of mercury. They operate in a gentle, yet sufficient manner, upon the bowels; removing all intestinal obstructions without giving the least pain or uneasiness, and do not (as is too often the case with many of the aperients in use) debilitate the system, from a frequent use of them; this circumstance renders them invaluable to persons of considerable habits, who are obliged regularly to have recourse to purgatives. The Stomach and Bilious Pills are decidedly the best medicine for confirmed head-ache, lowness of spirits, dizziness, heart-burn, &c., speedily relieving those disagreeable sensations, by restoring a healthy action to the stomach and to the whole course of the alimentary canal.

One of these Pills taken a little before or at Dinner is the best means of insuring a good digestion.

Sold wholesale and retail, by the Proprietor, 35, North-street, Brighton; and by J. Bell & Co., Oxford-street. Butler & Co., 4, Cheapside, and F. Newbery & Sons, 45, St. Paul's Church-yard, London, at 1s½d., 2s. 9d., and 4s. 6d. each; where also may be had, THORBY'S RINGWORM OINTMENT, most effectual cure for Ringworm in Childrens' Heads.

CHILBLAINS, RHEUMATISM, SPRAINS, &c.

Being combined in the form of Opodeldoc, it is rendered more penetrating, and consequently much more effectious as an external application. Rubbed upon the skin, by means of flannel, or the warm bath, it allays morbid irritation of nerves, invigorates the absorbents, and accelerates the circulation.

CLASSICAL AND MATHEMATICAL EDUCATION.

DR. BYRON, with no small degree of pleasure, feels himself enabled to inform his numerous friends, that he has removed his School from 71, East-street, to Belle-Vue Hall, near St. George's chapel, Marine-parade, which beautiful and admired Mansion is surrounded by nearly four acres of land, and commands highly interesting and unusually extended sea and picturesque land views. The situation is decidedly one of the most salubrious and delightful in the environs of Brighton. The pipe and pleasure grounds are very extensive and remarkably healthful. This singularly eligible residence will naturally not only tend to render the accommodation of those intrusted to his care infinitely more complete, but also to ensure their general comfort and happiness. The domestic arrangements are conducted precisely on the scale of a gentel private family. The health, morals, and manners of the pupils are his and their friends most sedulously and anxiously attended to. The system of education, which has hitherto proved so highly satisfactory, is rendered peculiarly easy and emulative; it is similarly calculated to satisfy and facilitate the progress of those whose studies have been previously retarded. Lectures on the Philosophy of Language and Mathematical subjects delivered weekly on the Cambridge plan. A spacious lecture room is attached to the establishment. The terms, which are moderate, vary according to age. Testimonials collegiate and from many of the Literati, together with references to the parents of Pupils, will be offered.

☞ The School re-opened on Wednesday, the 21st instant.—Circulars, expressing terms and other particulars, may be had at Messrs. Lonsmbe's, Tuppen's, and Loder's Libraries, and at Belle-Vue Hall School.

MR. REASON, Principal of Western House Academy, being impressed with an idea that Youth too generally are considerably retarded in their literary pursuits, by the absence of necessary instruction during that period which elapses from the time of their leaving school, to that in which they have acquired sufficient judgment to direct their own energies:

Considering also that many are frequently obliged to forego opportunities of progression in the stations to which they are placed, on account of their not being sufficiently versed in some particular intellectual acquirement, proposes to meet these cases by forming an ADULT CLASS, according to the following arrangements:

The number of individuals constituting the Class not to exceed Ten. The time of attendance, from seven till nine in the evening. The Lessons to consist alternately of Reading, Conversations, Themes, Recitations, Mental Calculations, and Conversational Lectures. The whole to be conducted entirely on an explanatory system, it being an established principle with Mr. R. to have the preliminaries well understood before another step is taken. The SUBJECTS, those generally forming the English routine, as plain and ornamental Penmanship, Grammar, Geography, History, Astronomy, Merchant's Accounts, General Arithmetic, Stenography, Algebra, Geometry, and the Mathematics.

The TERMS, Two Guineas per quarter. Twelve weeks from the time of entering to be considered as a quarter.

It is intended to dispense as much as possible with the drudgery of committing long lessons to memory.

☞ The Adult Class will be kept quite distinct from every other part of Mr. R's. Establishment.

Western House Academy, Western Road, Brighton.

TO THE NOBILITY, GENTRY, AND RESIDENTS OF BRIGHTON.

CORNS, NAILS, & BUNIONS.

CORNS the most tender, taken out in a few minutes without pain, and instant ease given to the most difficult cases.—Mr. POTTER, Chiropodist, solicits the attention of those who are suffering with Corns, Bunions, Nails, Callosities, Chilblains, and Warts, as he engages to effect a perfect cure in a short time in cases the most obstinate or of long standing, and enables the person to wear a tight boot or shoe the instant it is done. From his practice of twenty years, both in England and on the Continent (the last four of which he was resident in Brighton) he is enabled to cure any complaint attendant on the feet. References to medical Gentlemen of the highest respectability.

Corns, the most painful, which were extracted by Mr. P. (four years ago) have evinced no symptoms of a return, testimonials of which can be given.

Mr. P. waits on his patients, abroad, from Nine till One o'clock, and may be seen at his residence, from Two till Five, at No. 10, Bond-street, (near the Royal Colonnade,) North-street, Brighton.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH.

MR. CLARK,

SURGEON DENTIST,

(Late with Mr. Cartwright), from 3, Newman-street, London.

RETURNS his sincere thanks to the Nobility and Gentry of Brighton, and its Vicinity, for the kind patronage hitherto bestowed upon him, and respectfully begs to inform them that encouraged by the countenance of several families of distinction, he has been induced to take up a permanent residence in Brighton, relinquishing to his Brother his Metropolitan Establishment.

Mr. CLARK will, as usual, continue to fix Mineral, Natural, or Artificial Teeth, on the most modern and improved principles, from a single tooth to a complete set, which he guarantees will may be worn the entire lifetime of the mouth, and restore to the wearer every comfort in mastication, speech, and appearance. Mr. C. will also continue stopping (with his newly invented composition) tender decayed teeth, without the least pain, or liability to produce tooth-ache from pressure, which so frequently occurs in the usual way of stopping. It is not a paste, or cement, that will decompose with the heat of the stomach, but a durable metallic composition, that will resist all alkali as well as acids; excluding air, moisture, &c. (the accession of which is the prevalent cause of tooth-ache,) and forming a complete mas leating surface.

Mr. C. invites Medical Gentlemen to witness the operation, which will at once convince them of its simplicity and good effects. AT HOME FROM TEN TILL FIVE.

127, St. James's Street.

J. MARSH,

HOUSE AGENT, &c.

Of No. 46, Park-street, Grosvenor-square, London,

RESPECTFULLY begs leave to inform the Proprietors of Houses in Brighton, that he has taken a House on the GRAND PARADE, where he has opened an Office for the purpose of facilitating the Letting and Selling of Houses, Furnished and Unfurnished, both at London and Brighton: at the same time, he begs to inform them that Houses registered on his books for the above purposes, will meet with the same or greater publicity in town than they have in Brighton, in consequence of the particulars of them being circulated to the fashionable world, through the medium of his old established office in London.—He also begs leave respectfully to acquaint the Nobility and Gentry at present residents in Brighton, that by applying at No. 46, Grand-parade, they can have a list, with the terms of Houses in Town, which are to be Sold or Let for the ensuing season, with any other information they may require.

Agency Offices, 46, Park-street, Grosvenor-square (next door to St. Mary's Chapel) London, and 48, Grand-parade, Brighton.

TO EQUITABLE POLICY HOLDERS ENTITLED TO BONUS.

As several persons who will have additions made to their Policies, should they be alive on the 1st January, 1830, have prudently availed themselves of the very low rates for short periods presented by the ASYLUM table of premiums, by insuring their lives in that Company for the intermediate term, I beg leave to call the attention of the Policy-holders generally to the importance of adopting so necessary a precaution, by which the probable amount of bonus may be certainly attainable by the families of the assured.
