SATURDAY'S POST.

[Brought down from LONDON by EXPRESS.]
LONDON, NOVEMBER 30.

THIS Morning a Cabinet Council was held at Lord Hillborough's Office, at which all the Cabinet Minifters were perfent, faid to be on the last Proposal of the Empres of Ruslia for an Accommodation with the States General, who, it is said, have made Objections to the farme.

The Lord Chancellor, after the Drawing Room was over Yesterdey at St. James's, was in Constrence with the King 't'il half past Four o'Clock.

This Day there was a Levee at St. James's, which was more numerous than any for a long Time before. There is nothing more pershable than that there will be soon a Change in the Ministry, because there is nothing more certain than that there are great Divisions in the Cabinet. This may be easily collected from the Speech of the Lord Advocate, in the House of Commons, on Wedneslay last: That Gentleman is pretty well informed, for he is the Bosom Friend of a Noble Lord, high in Office.

Government have received Information that the Fleets which are preparing at Breft, and are supposed.

Government have received information that the Fleets which are preparing at Breft, and are fupposed to be intended for the West Indies, had not failed to late as the roth of the prefent Month. This is the latest Official Intelligence that has been received concerning this formidable Squadron, and may be considently relied on.

Prince Edward makes his first Naval Excursion in the Grand Fleet next Spring, under the Tuition of Admiral Sir John Lockhart Ross.

Admiral Sir John Lockhart Rofa.

The trying Day for the Minifter, will certainly be that, when the Secretary at War moves for the House to vote the Army for the enuing Year; this cannot fail to prove the Touchtone respecting the further Continuance of the American War.

Unless the Cabinet should become somewhat less deranged than it is at present, the Army will not be moved for till after the Christmas Recels.

Unlefs the Cabinet should become somewhat less deranged than it is at present, the Army will not be moved for till after the Christmas Recess.

Lord George Germain faurly bisted something like an Inclination to respin in Tucsday Evening. Si Debate; if it will prove any Spur to sinch Inclination, we can afflure his Lordship, that nine Tenths of the People anxiously with far such an Event; conceiving, that should this not operate pacifically, it will at least convince our combined Lenemies, that if War must shill be pursued, we shall at length be fortunate enough to have our Operations conducted in future under the less baneful Aussices of a War Minister!

Lord Shelburne is spoken of as the new American Secretary; his Lordship's Moderation on the Opening of Pariament gives a Colour to the Report.

Mr. Fox, as Chairman of the Westminster Association, has called a Meeting of the Committer to be held on Monday next, to consider of the Propriety of convening a general Assembly of the Inhabitants of the City of Westminster, to take into Consideration the present critical Situation of public Affairs.

Mr. Fox's present Object is the Paymasser Generalship of the Forces, in the Room of Mr. Rigby, whose Resignation in now deemed a Certainty by the Gentlemen in Opposition.

We are affured, notwithstanding the late Speech and its Answers, it was before resolved on, and is now to take Place, to withdraw the Troops from America, and to take the most vigorous and active Measures against the Enemies of this Country in the West-Indies: This was the Advice of the late Lord Chatham, and may not now be too late to be followed.

The most melancholy Part of the late Capitulation is, to a generous Mind, that which leaves the Natives and Ishabitants of Virginia, who joined the King's Standard, at the Mercy of the Congress. Who in surface, at the provide every should be every Man executed, for General Washington's Declarations to that Purpose have been settled and peremptory.

O X F O R D, December i.

In Confequence of Advertifements, published in this and other Papera, there was a very numerous and respectable Meeting of Nobility and Gentry at the Swan Inn, in Warwick, on Monday laft; when two Plans were laid before them, the one for making a Canal from the Wednefbury Pits to join the Coventry and Trunk Navigations; and the other to proceed from the Binningham canal, at Birmingham, to the Oxford Canal, at Napton t But thefe Plans being of great Extent, and attended with a Variety of Calculations in order to execute the Work with Certainty, the rejective Engineers requested further Time for compleating the fame, and therefore the Meeting, as to those Plans, was agreed to be adjourned.

At the fame Meeting, a Set of Gentlemen produced a Plan for making a Canal from the great and extensive Collicries of the Earls of Huntingdon and Stamford, at Oakethorpe, &c. in Leicestershire, near Burton upon Trent, to join the Coventry Canal Navigation at a Place called Griffe, within about three Miles of the Junction of the Oxford and Coventry Canals, which met with the unanimous Approbation of the Company present, as it appeared to be a Plan which promised the greatest Utility to the several Counties of Leicester, Warwick, Northampton, Oxford, &c. It appeared that the above proposed Plan for a Union Canal from the Wednesbury Pits to join the Coventry Canal at Athershore, was thirty-five Miles and a Quarter, and would cost, according to the Etimate $6,000 l. the Canal from Birmingham to Napton being forty-seven Miles and an Half, the Sum of 13,000 l. only; by which Communication there will be a Navigation of upwards of fitty Miles upon the New Canals, the Coventry, and Oxford Canals, without a Lock.

We have the Pleasure to inform our Readers, that the Coals at Lord Huntingdon's Collieries, &c. are of a Onality count of the Wednebury, in every Respect, there will be a Navigation of upwards of fitty Mates upon the New Canal, the Coventry, and Oxford Canals, without a Lock.

We have the Pleafure to inform our Readers, that the Coals at Lord Huntingdon's Collieries, &c. are of a Quality equal to the Wednefbury, in every Refpect, except for Smiths Work, and much better adapted for Carriage than any other Coals yet difcovered; and that the tame will be delivered at the Junction at Longford, Two Shillings per Ton cheaper than the Coals now fold there. Application is intended to be immediately made to Parliament, for carrying the above Plan into Execution; and for which, we are allo informed, the whole of the Money is engaged.

Laft Weck the Reverend Mr. Morres, M. A. and Mr. Wright, B. A. of Brazen Nofe College, in this Univerfity, were elected Fellows of that Society.

On Tuciday laft the Reverend Edmund Smith, of New College, was admitted, in full Congregation, to the Degree of Doctor in Civil Law.

Married, on Thurstay the 22d of November, the Reverend J. Burton Watkin, late Fellow of New College, to Miss Barbara Hervey, of Holcot-Houfe, in Bedfordfhire.

On Tuciday laft was married at St. Michael's Church, Coventry, Mr. Gray, an Attorney of Buckingham, to Mis Brockhurs, of Coventry.

The fame Day died, in the 77th Year of his Age, Mr. James Arnold, one of the Yeomen Beadles of that Office for upwards of twenty Years, had acquired univerfal Efteen.

On Thurlday, Mr. Robert Blifs, of this Flace, Bookfeller, was elected Yeoman Beadlet, in his room. On Wednefday Evening as Mr. Belcher and his Wife, of Chipping-Norton, in this County, accompanied by Mr. Endal of that Place and his Man, were returning from Hook-Norton Fair, they were attacked by a fingle Highwayman well mounted and dreffed in a Carter's Frock, who having robbed the three Men of their Money, then accorded the Woman with "Your Manes, Madems," — "No, Sir, you have robbed my Hufband, but you final not rob me."—The Highwayman then prefented a Piftol, and told her, Life was in his Hands; in Anfwer to which file hid him fire, and at the fame Time attempted to feize is Bridle; upon which he clapped Spurs to his Hofe, and rode off.—Mrs. Belcher earneftly entreated her Hufband and the other two Men to join her in surfuing the Robber, but in vain; so that he got clear off.—It feems the Woman had the Chief of the Money her Hufband and fhe had taken at the Fair for Goods; but the complains heavily againth her Companions for Want of Courage, in fo tamely fuffering themselves to be robbed. panious for Want or Cou themfelves to be robbed.
