SATURDAY'S POST.

[BY EXPRESS.] HOUSE OF COMMONS, JUNE 16.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

THE Chancellor of the Exchequer in consequence of the notice he yesterday gave, moved the reading of the A.R. for continuing the Order of Council of February 18th, which being done, he moved, "That leave be given to bring in a Bill to continue, for a time to be limited, the said Act, under certain regulations and restrictions."

Mr. Huxley wished to know whether the Chancellor of the Exchequer had compared the interest which he stated to have taken place in the affairs of the Bank, with the emission of paper-money, since the time of their stopping payment in cash.

Mr. Fitz said, he felt himself able to state, in general terms, that the whole of the circulation of Bank Notes in circulation, and the proportion they bore to the Cash and Bullion in the country, the situation of the affairs of the Bank was considerably improved. Whatever the real extent of any evil sustained by the commerce of this country might have been, it was a satisfaction to find that in the course of three months, none of those consequences took place which had been stated at the time the Bank stopped payment.

Mr. S. Thomson said, the Bank had been extremely guarded in the issuing of paper, which he knew did not do the business of the country. Leave was given to bring in the Bill, and Mr. Pitt, Mr. Dundas, the Attorney and Solicitor General, were ordered to prepare and bring in the same.

Mr. W. Bird gave notice, that he would move for leave to bring in a Bill to continue for a longer time the Small Notes Bill.

FORESTALLING, REGRATING, &c.

Mr. Dundas said, that as there was a Bill then pending before the House to prevent the fore-stalling and regrating of cattle intended for the London markets, he would on the following day call the attention of the House to its importance, and in the first place, to state that it was a Bill of the same kind which had been proved twenty years ago to have a tendency directly contrary to what it stated, and that it would rather cut off a supply of cattle from the market.—Adjourned.

LONDON, June 16.

At a Cabinet Council held at Lord Grenville's office on the subject of the Embassy's credentials, it was determined that his Lordship should be invested with full powers to negotiate and conclude a Peace with the French Republic.

Letters received in town yesterday, state, that the rebellious part of the crews of some of the ships which have come up the river to Gravesend, had manifested a disposition of demanding a pardon for their Delegates. On Wednesday evening, a corporal and sergeant of Marines, and 30 seamen, were taken out of the Standard, and a party of the Warwickshire Militia sent on board, to keep order.

The Law having ended, the trial of the batteries, was fired at, and brought to.

One Marine, a Delegate of the Standard, and a principal in the Mutiny, yesterday that himself on board that ship, on his name being called over to go on shore. It was a premeditated act, as he had a pistol ready, and just before he shot himself, he offered to shoot another, asking him if he had the resolution to act like him. His body was brought on shore, and the Coroner's Jury has brought in a verdict of Self-Murder. On examining him, he is known to have been no feigner, for his hands are quite delicate, and his appearance is genteel. He was the rebel Captain of the Standard. Last night 80 men of the Warwickshire Militia were sent on board the Standard, to keep the refractory seamen in subjection.

Parke, the Rebel Chief, who was sent to Maidstone Gaol from Sheerness, under a strong guard, was heard to say, that at Temple Bar he should be furnished with many an head before he should go to the gallows. From this speech, and from other circumstances, it is thought he will unravel the conspiracy, provided he can save his own neck. He is very closely confined in Maidstone Gaol, and is supposed to be suffered to have any correspondence with him.

Several females, supposed to be Delegates, attempted to make their escape a few days since in an open boat from the Nore. Finding both forces lined with troops, they went down and turned the North Foreland, pursued by a cutter, and ran into one of the gates in the City of Thames. The alarm was given, the Volunteers turned out, and they were taken.

Ships now pass up and down the river without molestation. There is the strongest reason to conclude, that several of the persons acting as the leading men in the Mutiny at the Nore, will give up their principles in the end.

One evil consequence of the disorders in the city, was the diffusion, by the crews, of some of the best officers in the service; who, by that means, deprived of all the benefits which this is a cruel, in the line of their profession. This is an artificial, both in respect of the public, and with regard to the individuals themselves.

Sir W. Homan, who ran away with Lady C. Stuart, from Mrs. Beaumont's Ball, is the third son of a private Irish family, and was knighted, we know not why, by the Lord Lieutenant.

The friends of Bute are, however, in the country. George Kestelby and his wife left London for Bristol, where he is to embark on board an American ship.

Coveat Garden Theatre, which closed its season on Tuesday was re-opened last night, for the benefit of the Widows and Orphans of those brave men who fell in the late war, and for those who were wounded in the military action of the 4th of February, under Admiral Lord St. Vincent, (late Sir John Jervis) and was extremely crowded with the best company.
