LONDON, Auguß* at.

LEGLER arrived early on Tuefday with dispatches from Lord Lauderdelactories in the negociation, subfequently on the departure of Mr. Ballico from Paris. He could not have reached that city, on his return, before Sunday morning, and any answer to the communications of which he was the bearer, could not have been expected before to-day. The tenor of the dispatches received on Tuefday remains a profound fecter. They appear to have excited neither the hopes nor the fears of the Gentlemen of the Stock Exchange, who continued to firike their bargains nearly at the prices of the preceding day. Between one and two o'clock dispatches were forwarded to Deal, Plymouth, and Portfmouth.

The accounts received yesterday from the Continent are of a very mixed and contradictory nature. In Paris, folate as the 9th inst. no full-pricon appears to have been emertained that a new war was likely to break out on the Continent, and the papers expers frrong hopes that a peace would speedily be concluded between this country and France. The German and Dutch papers, however, contain articles of a very different complexion. The French troops are described as making movements of a character decidively hostile. Instead of returning to France, considerable bodies have re-crossed the Rhine at Strasburgh, to reinforce the armies in Swabia, Bavaria, Franconia.

The complexion of the advices from every part of Germany is war-like. The recent state and Prussian of the recent state and prussian strates and Westphalia; and numerous corps are taking up positions on the Verge of the Electorates of Helle and Sxxony, According to an article in two hostiles and Prussian of held and authors of held and sxxony. According to an article from Franktort, the refumption of hostilities fees mis neiwable, unless Rolling and Prussian of held and sxxony and Austria give her assens neiwable, unless Rolling article provers in the same of the min the new Contederacy.

A curious article appears in one of the minor Paris prints. It is a kind of threat and invective against the Austrian, Government on account of the circulation of fome pamphlets, faid to be printed at Vienna, in Swabia, the tendency of which was to excite the Germans to flake off the yoke of their oppressors. The Emperor is absolved from any participation in these very ferious offences, but it is very significantly intimated to him, "that the Ministers who direct his Cabinet, and who continue the enemies of their country, will finish by drawing on its ruin."

The Argas contains some political observations of importance. The furrender of much of our manisme code is hutted at as an indispensible continue the enemies of their country, will finish by drawing on its ruin."

The valuable ecclefiafical preferments vacant by the promotion of Dean Warburton to the See of Limerick, have been apportioned between the Rev. Mr. Dawfon, brother of the Member for Monaghan; the Rev. Mr. Dunfonby (nephew of the Lord Chancellor) and the Rev. Mr. B. Dudley.

Yellerday Mr. Swinton, late vender of Daffy's Elixir, underwent another very long examination before three of the Commifioners of Bankruptcy at Guildhall. At his former examinations he talked much of a Mifs More, whom he fail had lived with him, and who had burned the memorandums which conflituted his accounts. The Commifilioners iffued orders for the appearance of Mifs More, who did not appear, but the Bankrupt confeiled that he himfelf burn the leaves forn from the account book, for which he fublituted clean ones, and gave orders to a young man of the name of Hall, to fill the blank writing with different pens, and three different forts of ink, to make it appear as if wrote at different times. He likewife gave in a lift yefferday of things concealed at different places by his defire. The Commiffioners told him, that from what had been flated at his different examinations, they thought it their duty to fend him to Newgate, to which prifon, after hearing Mr. Confl., as his Coultel, he was committed.

Yefferday agendeman paffing the Paddington Road on horfe back, olferved a hackney coachman, whofe though the propagance he imagined would intimidate the appearance he imagined would intimidate the appearance he imagined would intimidate the propagance he in the propagance had actually began to put his threat in execution, awe, and actually began to put his threat in execution, we are propaganced to convey him home in his own carriage, after hearing a most mortifying ledure from the gentleman, who mounted his horfe apparently very little hurts.
