Bols Moor Children's Party.
The Mission Room, Bols Moor-road,
was the scene of a very merry party
on Saturday afternoon, when some 84
children were the guests of the Amersham and Chesham Bols Conservative Association, Miss Stroud and a band of ladies being mainly responsible for the jolly function, and to them much credit is due. After the tea there were,
of course, games such as all children

The Late Mr. John How.

The Late Mr. John How.

In our last issue we reported the death of Mr. John How, of Orpington House, Bellingdon, which took place on December 30th, at the age of 63 years. The funeral was at Chesham on Saturday, the Rev. F. W. Duncombe officiating, and Mr. W. G. Keen carrying out the funeral arrangements. The flowers sent were from the following:

"With a cream of the following George; "In loving tlen and Family.

Letting it Rip!

Imagine, upwards of one hundred youngsters letting it rip! Imagine, one hundred impetuous, leather-lunged youngsters given free rein for ten minutes to let off steam. How they did let it rip! How they sang—all kinds of things, ancient and modern. How they played and competed, the latter for nice prizes. How they feasted, an ice and bountiful tea. And how they gave musical honours of the latter for nice prizes. How they feasted, an ice and bountiful tea. And how they gave musical honours on. They went away bubbly—with an orange each, and other spoils. They left the workers deafened, tired, but happy. Thus, the annual treat to members' children of school age, given by Chesham Women's Liberal Association on Tuesday at the Temperance Hall. What would you call it—an uproarious success? Something like that. Phew! those blowers. The happy workers, representative of the committee and wr. Edgar Wallace, were: Mrs. Eldred (chairman), Mrs. J. Webb fescritary). Mesdame Winter, Gil-
