DISPATCHES, of which the following are C spies, have been received from Captain Anfruther by the Right Honourable Lord Grenville, His Majedy's Principal Secretary of State for Poreign Affairs.
Hast Quarters of bis Royal Highnafs the Archabate Charle, Whatkam, September 102, 1796.
My LORD, I have the honour to inform your Lordhip, that the progress of the Aultrian arms continues to be marked by brilliant and uninterrupted fucerls.
His Royal Highnefs the Archduke having quitted his camp near Wurtzburg on the 5th puffed on a ftrong Advanced Guard, under the command of Leutenant-General Kray. That officer arriving in the neighbourheof Archdufferabourg in the altertory of two thousand men, the enemy, to the enemy had advanced form the Captain of the command of Leutenant-General Kray. That officer arriving in the neighbourheof Archdifferabourg in the altertory of two thousand men, of the enemy to further the pass from the Forefi. After a severe canonade, which lasted a confiderable time, he attacked them with much fairt, drove them from their advantageous position, and his cavalry pursuang them without heiration through the town, disperfed them in the woods on the other side of the Meyn. The loss of the enemy on this occasion amounts to above 1000 men, of whom 600 are prisoners.
The Archduke advanced on the 7th 19 Aftafaehung where the main body halted on the 8th; but intelligence being received that the enemy had abandoned Frankfort the preceding night, the advanced guards were pushed on fucerifierly to the Kintzg and the Nidda.
On the 9th His Royal Highness unarched to Dettingen, and on the soft to Windecken; the advanced corps occupying the important point of Friedber, have advanced towards Keniglein, (which was abandoned frankfort the preceding night, the advanced of Frankfort, he might have checked for a time the progress of the Austrians. In this work of the progress of the Austrians was a proposed of the profession of the ceeded in the object of his operation, which was to wasken the enemy's attack on the Prince of Futenberg.

There is as yet no, positive information that Moreau has begun his retreat, although from the latermovements there is reason to apprehend that he is misking preparations for it.

I have the homour to be, &c.

Jourdan continues his retreat in the fame differently manner: numbers of stragglers pass by Hanaua, and likewise on the other inde of the river by Steinheim; but the principal part of the army feems still to direct its march by Foldiands and Gettenhausen. Answers of the agent and Gettenhausen. About 200 Artillery men passed this place yeslerday, without even side attention of the strain stilled by the inhabitants of the Spelist. It suppears that great numbers of the enemy have been killed by the Peafants; they fell upon the Light of the corn, feized the military cheft, and divide the money they found in it. General Ernoust, who is arrived at Frankfort, only estaped the mineral strains along the strain is given by the ringing of the ferificates of his horfer. As soon as the French appear, the alarm is given by the ringing of bells, when the Peafants immediately allemble where they think they may be able to attack the camp to advantage.

Hans Industriant and the strain strains the strain and the strains.

The chief object of the Treaty offensive and defensive between France and Spain, is to cramp the commerce, and lower the present naval superiority of this country.
